

The Honorable Michael K. Powell
Chairman
Federal Communications Commission
445 12th Street, S.W.
Washington, D.C. 20554

Dear Chairman Powell:

My name is Troy Skeens and I am writing to you regarding your consideration of dropping the requirement that the telephone companies be required to provide ISPs access to (their networks). Removal of this requirement would be a grave mistake.

I and millions others like me depend on my local Internet Service Provider to give me access to Internet services and options not available from the large telephone carriers. If you choose to remove my ISP's access it will no longer be able to provide me and others the level of service we have come to enjoy and expect for Internet access. Such action will simply force the independent ISPs out of business and will do nothing but LIMIT consumer choice not expand it. I have been with my ISP for many years and, at the time I started with them, the telephone and cable companies could have cared less about me being able to access the Internet. Now they want to shut out the competition that has forced them to keep access prices low while bandwidth has increased.

By removing the requirement and reducing our choice, you will likely also allow consumer rates to rise. By having a current choice among several providers to choose from, I am not only allowed to find the best services to suit my needs, but also for the best price. Reducing the number of ISPs in the marketplace will certainly have the obvious result of reduced competition and increased prices for consumers in the long run.

I sincerely hope that you think very carefully what you are considering. Consumers all across America are depending on you to make the right decision. The right decision is to maintain and grow the level of competition in the Internet marketplace. That goal is best met by protecting and nurturing competitive market conditions for the thousands of independent ISPs and not through their destruction.

Please continue to consider and protect the ISP's access to the public telephone networks and thereby protecting the rights of millions of consumers like me.

Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Troy Skeens
5667 Antoninus Drive
Cincinnati, OH 45238